Welcome to Falkridge, a year-round international destination retreat with world-class facilities set amid a truly spectacular natural setting. Regarded as the premier executive retreat in Western Canada, this is the ideal location to host a gathering of colleagues or family that will inspire fresh creativity in the workplace and renewed relationships among friends and relatives.

The facilities offer an extravagant twenty seven thousand square feet of exquisitely finished interior space, set in thirteen acres of manicured lawns, natural shrubs and stone features enclosed by pine trees that stand sentry over the grounds. The generous use of stone and timber framing in the construction of the facility allows the magnificent facade of the residence to blend in organically with the surroundings.

The main residence comprises a sprawling lounge area, a large professional kitchen and dining room and a media room that comfortably accommodates over twenty people. Spectacular views of the foothills rambling toward the majestic Rocky Mountains from the ubiquitous windows create a constant awareness of the inspiring natural surroundings and form a backdrop of a constantly evolving palette of colours over the course of the year.

Common areas are flooded with natural light from the vast windows, accentuating the post and beam construction of the interior, gleaming granite surfaces and curved Sapele Pomele veneer doors. The unrestricted sense of space, luxurious finishing and spectacular views will doubtless make this the preferred venue for any gathering. Precisely chosen decorative pieces such as the Altar Bar add an aspect of originality. Salvaged from Calgary's St. Mary's Cathedral, the altar is constructed from beautiful and rare rose coloured Italian marble and carries with it a long and valued Roman Catholic history. Seven guest suites are also housed within the main residence.

A guest house, offers six further suites with heated tile flooring, spa-like en suites and private balconies with breathtaking vistas. The cozy lounge area, with an eye-catching fireplace, is the perfect place for more intimate gatherings. The Guest House's training and conference area and full media centre are equipped with state of the art technology which make this a self-sufficient facility with a offering resources for a full range of activities.

At the end of a long day, or during an afternoon break, steal out into the grounds and take in the expansive sky and fresh mountain air. A double-tiered Gazebo sits pagoda-like above a serene pond, calling to mind the tranquility of Zen gardens while the Water Tower commands exceptional views of the surroundings.

With a weekend of work accomplished, an abundance of activities await in neighbouring world-class golf courses, internationally renowned skiing and hiking destinations and exhilarating white water rafting. Only a short, scenic drive through the mountains from Calgary's international airport, Falkridge is also conveniently located near the world renowned winter destinations of Banff, Lake Louise and Kicking Horse Mountain.
